THE 1930
ILLIWOCO

FOREWORD

As you turn the pages of the 1930 ILLIWOCO, may there return to your mind memories of a happy year spent at Illinois Woman's College.

The 1930
ILLIWOCO

Published by the

DEDICATION

To Mr. and Mrs. MacMurray, and to all the friends of Illinois Woman's College who helped to make MacMurray Hall possible, we dedicate this, the
1930 ILLIWOCO.

The Illinois Conservatory of Music

The fact that the Music Department of Illinois College and the Music Department of Illinois Woman's College were consolidated to form the Illinois Conservatory of Music in 1928 caused a phenomenal growth in the number of both students and faculty. Under this supervision and control, the Conservatory is one of the largest in this part of the state. At present the faculty consists of twenty-one members. The music faculty gives several recitals during the year in which the students appear. A great deal of interest is shown by the college in the various activities which are carried on in the music department. An increase each year in the number of music students indicates that this department is becoming widely known.

Cap and Gown

Cap and Gown, the Senior Honorary Society, was organized in 1924, by Audrey King, Carrie Dyarman, Mary Elizabeth Roark, and Helen Bly, presidents of the four major organizations. Cap and Gown has as its purpose the encouragement of excellence in scholarship and extra-curricular activities. It has for its ideal the motto of the college, "Knowledge, Faith, and Service".

The members of this organization are chosen at the last chapel service of the year, when each active member selects from the incoming Senior Class her choice for Cap and Gown.

The members of Cap and Gown for 1928 were Alice Rengstorff, Eleanor Post, and Martha Byland, who chose to succeed them, Imogene Ruff, Lucile Sipfle, and Bertha Swearingen.

The Students' Association was organized in 1905 under the name of the College Council and served as an advisory body to student affairs. Due to its efficient operation, the school granted a charter which gave to the Council the name of the Students' Association, and gave to the organization the powers which it now has.

Under the leadership of Imogene Ruff, the activities of the Students' Association, of which every girl is automatically a member, have been extended. A Legislative Council has been established under the supervision of the Students' Association. The Illinois Woman's College "Brown Book" of rules has been revised. One of the chief items of this revision is the establishment of the Honor System in regard to student conduct.

The Honor System is now an integral part of the College. Under this system, each girl is placed on her honor to stand by the regulations of the college and to give to it her loyal support.

The work of the Students' Association is of leading importance in our system of Student Government.

The meetings of the Young Woman's Christian Association were held every Thursday during the year of 1928-29, with the entire student body in attendance. Various phases of religious education were discussed with reports given by those delegates who had attended the Y. W. C. A. Conferences during the year. With the resignation of Mary Katherine Rice at the close of the first semester, Grace Chapman was selected to fill the vacancy, and the Student Volunteer Movement was carried on in connection with the Y. W. Kathleen Wallace was chosen as Chairman of the Finance Committee to fill the vacancy left by Helen Terry who was graduated at the end of the first semester. That the Y. W. C. A. is becoming more progressive and more successful each year, is evidenced by the larger groups of children attending the annual Christmas and Easter parties. Each year the Y. W. C. A. gives Thanksgiving baskets to various families in Jacksonville, and thus the organization has a definite place in the social work of the community.

The "College Greetings" is published bi-monthly by the Senior class of Illinois Woman's College. The "Greetings Quarterly" appears four times during the year. The staff is a member of the Illinois College Press Association and delegates are sent each year to its annual Convention. The "Greetings" holds various contests during the year with awards for the best productions. The first editor, Abbie Peavey, was assisted by the faculty advisory board. At this time, the "Greetings" was a small magazine. Today it is enlarged into a very business-like publication with contributions from the faculty and students.

The standards for the "Illiwoco" were set by the first editor when the annual was published in 1915, and each succeeding year the Juniors have attempted to equal and even surpass these standards in their "Illiwoco". The Junior class always considers it a privilege and an honor to publish the College Annual and wishes to leave it as a token of their "college days". The 1930 ILLIWOCO Staff wishes to make this annual worthy of the interest and loyalty shown by the students of Illinois Woman's College during the past year.

The Madrigal Club, under the direction of Mr. Charles Pearson, is composed of about forty girls who have been carefully selected on a competitive basis. Thus the best voices are included in the organization. The Madrigal Club gave its annual concert in April, and it was enthusiastically received by those present. Out of the whole group, certain girls have been selected to give concerts out of town, and to broadcast from Springfield.

Last year the College Choir, which has now been re-organized to form the Madrigal Club, gave several out-of-town concerts, which were favorably received. These concerts were new then, but the fact that they are being repeated this year seems to indicate that they were a success.

MRS. FORREST	Director

The College Choir, under the capable direction of Mrs. Marguerite Palmiter-Forrest, has been reorganized on an entirely different plan this year. The Choir now consists exclusively of students who have trained voices, and who are enrolled in the Music Department. The College Choir is one of the major organizations in the Music Department, as it takes an active part in all the chapel services and in the Vesper Services.

Paradox

Every day,
Puppet-like,
I go
My fumbling way,
And every night
I sigh
And wonder why
I do not end the strife,
Because I know
All hope is really futile.
Yet, strangely,
With the dawn
I rise
And say
The battle must go on.
And then,
Puppet-like,
I go
My fumbling way.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Varsity Hockey

This year, due to the fact that the Athletic Association of Illinois Woman's College has become a member of the Athletic Conference of American College Women, which does not allow inter-collegiate games, the Army-Navy game was played Thanksgiving morning, instead of the annual game with Illinois College.

The game was fast and exciting. The Navy made the first two goals, after which the Army rallied, but the Navy again scored. The first half closed with the ball in the Army territory, and the score 3-1.

The teams were evenly matched, the Army backline advantage offset by the Navy forward line supremacy. The Navy scored, followed by an Army goal, then another Navy goal. Here the Army staged the most remarkable comeback perhaps ever seen in intramural games. No matter how badly beaten, they "came back". The final score, however, was a 5-4 victory for the Navy.

The game was one of the fastest, cleanest, and most exciting ever witnessed. Both teams were in good condition, and showed themselves remarkably well matched. The freshmen especially exhibited some rare athletic ability. In all, the game was well worth seeing and was every bit as enthusiastically received as the usual Illinois College contest which our new athletic plans forced us to discontinue.

HOCKEY CHAMPIONS, FRESHMEN

ARMY-NAVY GAME

May Day

May Day in "Story Book Land" is the theme of the 1929 May Day program. This year the identity of the May Queen, Lucile Elzey, remained unknown until "the big day". She was attended by other members of the graduating class. Alice in Wonderland, accompanied by the Mad Hatter and the pages who were playing cards, Ala Baba and his Forty Thieves, Little Boy Blue, Old King Cole, Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum, Old Mother Goose, the Babes in the Woods, and many other characters of nursery rhyme fame danced before the Queen and her attendants.

ACTIVITIES

The Senior Ball

The Senior Ball, which is the first large social event of the school year, is always looked forward to with much interest. To the Seniors it means work and worry; to the Juniors it means—"My first real Prom"; to the Sophomores, the wish to be a Junior or Senior; and to the Freshmen it means something, well—almost unbelievable.

Lucile Sipfle, who is president of the Senior Class, made a charming Queen for this year's Senior Ball, which was held November 10, in the Social Room. Artistic is the word that should be used in describing the Senior Ball, as all the decorations and favors followed the modern school of art.

The Junior Promenade

The Juniors entertained the Seniors royally at the Junior Promenade by carrying them far beyond the seas to Arabia. The Social Room was converted into a huge, beautifully colored Arabian tent, about the doors of which hovered veiled Arabian slave women. Just outside the tent stretched an oasis, surrounded by palm trees, under which the camels stood, blissfully unmindful of the glorious moon above. The dancers, however, wended their way slowly to and from the tent, intent upon the moon which became more of a reality to the strains of "Desert Moon", played by Debolt's Orchestra.

WESLEY MATHERS CONTEST

The Wesley-Mathers Declamatory Contest, open to all those taking work in the Department of Public Speaking, was held on April 8. The first prize was awarded to Melba Reid, and the second prize to Meredyth Menefee.

Hallowe'en Masquerade

The annual Hallowe'en mask party given by the Athletic Association was held in the college gymnasium Saturday night, October twenty-seventh. The room was prettily decorated in Hallowe'en colors, yellow and black. Colored lights were everywhere, and blanketed benches lined the walls. The orchestra was in full blast, and strange people were dancing with others even stranger. A descriptive Hallowe'en dance number was given by Ena O'Konogi and Dotty Jackson. Helen Morris, as Ella Cinders, received the prize for the most original costume. Miss Elizabeth Rearick, as the Old Man with the bright eye, received second prize.

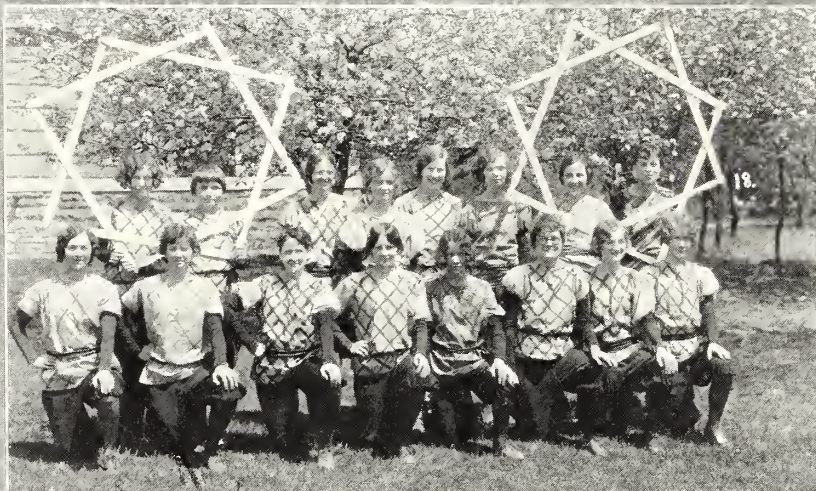

DADS' DAY

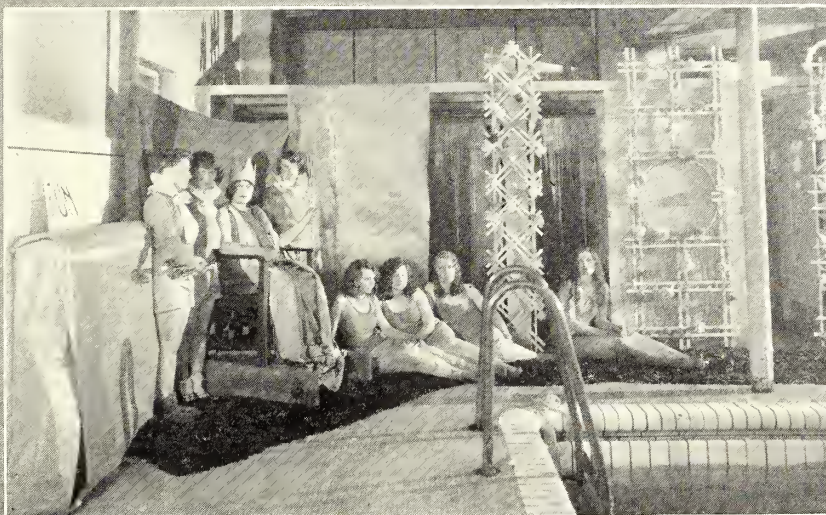

Dads here, Dads there, Dads everywhere, and another Dads' Day is here. The ever-increasing number of Dads shows that this day is becoming more and more popular at I. W. C. It is the one day in the year when Daughter entertains Dad, and everything is planned for his benefit.

This year, the Swimming Exhibition took place in the morning and the S. R. O. sign was put out at both performances. It was a hilarious affair with King Neptune there to see just what his retinue could do. The Seniors in the Department of Speech presented a very clever entertainment in the afternoon. This was received enthusiastically by the Dads. At night came the climax of a wonderful day. The Spring Revue, Kampus Klips, with the choruses of pretty girls dancing and singing, the specialty acts of the Radio Performers and the cloggers were popular with Dads, Daughters, and visitors. The Finale brought to a close another "grand and glorious day" of the year.

CALENDAR

September 14-18—The third Orientation is in full swing. By the time the old girls return, the Frosh are so well acquainted with the faculty, history, traditions, and buildings of Illiwooco that they are quite willing to show their "big sisters" about.

September 17—"Oh—h, Jane, when did you come back? Have you seen my roommate yet? Did you have a glorious summer? How is Paul? Why, there's Helen. Goodby, Jane. See you later." Nothing other than the return of the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors to I. W. C. It is well to say, however, that many wandered vaguely about searching for the business offices; it is rumored that two girls were lost for several hours in the new library.

September 18—Registration Day dawns once more. Someone has said that Registration Day is nothing but a series of long walks from office to adviser, from adviser to the sectioning committee, from the sectioning committee, to the checkers, from the checkers to a five hours' wait in line at the Business Office. Yes, Registration Day is the most exciting day of the school year.

With Registration Day comes the first chapel of the Year. After a hearty welcoming speech by Dr. McClelland, we were delightfully entertained by some of the new members of the music faculty, Mr. Schwing and Mrs. Helen Brown Read.

September 24—Monday is always a popular day in September. This day was an especially busy one with the Athletic Association picnic at Nichols Park, and the annual Y. W. C. A. Kid Party in the gymnasium.

October 3-4—Now that the new society halls are ready, rushing begins with full force, a series of breakfasts, luncheons, teas, dinners, carnivals, and bridges.

October 5—Founders' Day comes early this year, due to the fact that some of the trustees could not be present on October 10, which is the real date. At six o'clock sharp, everyone assembled in the gymnasium for cafeteria supper, after which they gathered in the social room for the candle lighting service. Following a speech by Dr. McClelland, and the candle lighting ceremony, Mrs. MacMurray gave us an account of her "Second Trip Around the World".

October 13-14-15—"Happy days which might have been" had the Juniors and Seniors been able to go to Matanzas as they had planned.

October 15—The Sophomores entertained the Freshmen at a Japanese costume party.

October 20—The Juniors were hostesses to their sister class, the Freshmen, at a delightful Tea-Dance in the social room.

October 22—The Russian Cossack chorus presented the first number on the Artists' Programs.

October 27—After much stumbling about, and with our blood still running cold from having heard so many shrieks and creaks, we made our way onto the dance floor, and soon forgot our fears. The prizes were awarded to Helen Morris, as Ella Cinders, a name which she still bears, and to a very crippled "Old Man with the Bright Eye", none other than Miss Rearick.

October 29—Mr. Eness gives the first of the faculty recitals.

November 3—Theta Sigma Banquet at Colonial Inn.

November 5—Dr. and Mrs. McClelland entertained the faculty and students of the newly consolidated Illinois Conservatory of Music at a reception.

November 6—Election day at last. I. W. C. voted almost unanimously for Hoover, but "Al" Smith had two staunch advocates in Miss Johnston and Miss Miner.

November 10—Having elected Hoover by a large majority, the next event of any possible interest to the Juniors and Seniors is the Senior Ball. When a Junior or Senior has a good-looking man who can dance, and good music, she dances, forgetful of all else, even affairs of the nations.

November 12—Hartman String Quartet.

November 17—Belles Lettres Banquet at Colonial Inn.

November 19—Dr. Annabel Newton, Dr. Elisabeth Nichols and Miss Fidelia Abbott give luncheon for the English majors. Mr. Schwing appears in a Violin recital.

November 22—The Kennedy Players found much favor in the opinions of I. W. C. students and townspeople with the remarkable presentation of "Salutation".

November 24—Lambda Alpha Mu Banquet at Colonial Inn.

November 25—Activities of the Thanksgiving season opened with the Thanksgiving Vesper Service in Music Hall. Mr. Merle English of Chicago delivered the address.

November 26—Miss McGehee and Mrs. Helen Brown Read appear in a joint Piano and Vocal recital.

November 28—The peppiest Freshman Class in the history of I. W. C. displayed its pep and gave vent to its long, pent-up dislike for the class of 1931 by burning an effigy of the Sophomore Class and by throwing the hated green ribbons into the fire.

November 29—Thanksgiving always has associations, but the memory of the cinnamon rolls, the Army-Navy game, the dinner, and the Dramatic Club plays are undoubtedly the most outstanding features in the day's events.

December 1—Phi Nu Banquet at Colonial Inn.

December 6—Charles Pearson's voice recital.

December 8—Sigma Alpha Iota Banquet.

December 19—Why say more? Christmas vacation begins.

January 3—"Gee, I hated to come back, but now I'm glad I'm here. Let's not study tonight"—and so we come back to work.

January 14—Ralph Leopold, pianist, presents another of the Artists' series programs.

January 21—Mrs. Lois Harney-Hardin and Miss Cover appear in a joint Voice and Violin recital.

January 29—The less said, the better. Semester examinations begin today.

February 2—Exams are over. Oolah!

February 5—New semester begins.

February 12-13—Day of Prayer. Dr. James M. Yard of Northwestern University was an interesting speaker.

February 16—The Seniors are having a house dance. The Freshmen and Sophomores are in the midst of a Mardi Gras dance. The Juniors sit alone and study.

February 22—The George Washington birthday party.

February 23—Spring vacation begins.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE:

"That page is out of my book.
I didn't find that in my lesson—
Why—er—ah— (vacant expression).
I was ill last night—
I studied the wrong lesson—(sick laugh).
I didn't hear the question.
I remember reading that—but I didn't understand it very well.

I. Rissi—"There usually is."

H. Wait—"What's that you have in your hand?"

Bert Swearingen—"It's a book entitled 'What Every College Girl Knows'."

H. Wait—"Don't prevaricate. It's nothing but a notebook full of blank pages."

Bert—"That's just the point, just the point."

M. Spelbring—"I heard something this morning that opened my eyes."

M. Evers—"What?"

M. Spelbring—"An alarm clock."

The Morning After the Night Before:

"Oh—dear—I'm so tired."

"Wasn't it just grand?"

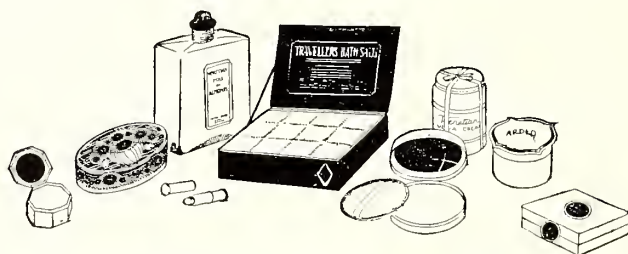

"Was your date nice?"

"Mine was short, but he was a marvelous dancer—"

And so on—but everyone had a wonderful time.

I. Hinchman (Leaving her father at the station)—"Goodbye, old dear; you'll write me, won't you? Just a few lines—even if it's only a check."
